WideAngle3

the citylink water mill then capitol theatre building and raffles city entrance with sign and floor making a weird pattern try taking the same scenes with your camera - if you dont have a wide angle, you have to move away from the object to get the whole scene, but obstacles may get in the way; the capitol theatre shot, for example, was taken with my back against the cathedral fence so you cannot move back; with the water mill, there is the escalators behind - my last 3 shots were taken going up the escalator and you can see part of the handrail in the way - moving closer to avoid the obstacle, the last shot could only get part of the mill
